What has been done to date in FIERE?

Kick-Off Meeting

The kick-off meeting of the FIERE project was held in Kilkenny City, Ireland on the 6th of February 2014.

All 7 partners participating in the project were represented at the meeting.

At the meeting key operational and financial management issues and communication/dissemination matters were considered. Detailed discussions also took place regarding progressing the work packages that have to be completed in the early stages of the project.

Project Website

The FIERE project website is currently being constructed and will be live very soon. The website address will be www.fiereproject.eu.

Work Package 2 – User Needs Analysis

Waterford Institute of Technology is the leader of Work Package 2. This involves the drafting of a literature review; undertaking a survey of regional organisations and individuals in order to understand their needs; and preparation of national reports that will be synthesised into one overall project report.

A draft Literature Review has been prepared by Waterford

Institute of Technology with significant input from the partners. It is expected that this will be finalised soon and published on the project website.

Each partner has begun to identify what organisations to survey in their respective regions and work has commenced on developing the common framework of questions that will form the survey.

What next will happen in FIERE?

The output from Work Package 2 will serve as a basis for the development of an innovative entrepreneurship skills training programme (Work Package 3).

The programme will then be tested and piloted (Work Package 5), together with previously identified good practice case studies (Work Package 4) in the provision of innovative entrepreneurship education among regional stakeholders.
